LUNCHEON CLUB ENTERTAINED.

Director Ed. Armstrong sent his Girls Glee Club down to the Tuesday luncheon of the Hondo Luncheon Club where the young ladies entertained the diners with several vocal selections. The dulcet tones of the sweet singers soothed the nerves of the "tired business men" that they forgot their hunger and sat in wrapt attention until their luncheon grew cold!
Ed Armstrong, Jr., directed the singers and performed like a veteran.
Both Hondo and the school are fortunate in having such a splendid organization of young people, and a man with the experience and skill of Mr. Armstrong to direct them in their musical studies.
The Luncheon Club is now finally organized and a program committee has charge of plans for entertainment at the next luncheon. Two new members enrolled Tuesday, and it is hoped to soon make the club 100 per cent strong among business and professional men of Hondo.
The Hondo High School Glee Club, Orchestra and Mrs. Ed. Armstrong's dancing class went to Del Rio Friday where they gave a concert before a large and appreciative audience. On the return trip the girls gave the program at the Officers' Club at Fort Clark, near Brackettville. After the performance the girls and their sponsors, as the guests of Brigadier General Hawkins, were treated to a delightful lunch of doughnuts and coffee.
Harley Sadler, owner of the Harley Sadler Co. Show, one of the largest and best dramatic tent shows in business, has issued a verbal invitation to Director Ed. Armstrong and the fifty girls of the Hondo High School Glee Club, to attend the performance of Tuesday night, March 8th, in San Antonio. The Club members will be the guests of Mr. Sadler and will be treated to one of the finest dramatic performances of its kind.

DID YOU EVER STOP TO THINK.

By Edson R. Waite, Shawnee, Oklahoma.
THAT in the minds of the public, advertising has a decidedly distinctive place. It has been put there by the definite policy of persistent advertisers in advertising only the best in quality.
Well advertised products, on account of their high quality and the service they give, have proven themselves the best time and time again.
It is a well known fact that persistent advertisers never substitute for quality. Substitutes for quality never satisfy.
Discriminating buyers demand advertised products, for their quality is guaranteed and they always give complete satisfaction.
Of the many methods of advertising created, none has met with such cordial appreciation as advertising through the printed page.
Advertising through the printed page meets every requirement of every line of business. It surpasses in economy and brings better results than any other known method of advertising.
Good advertising not only brings business but builds prestige.
Wide awake business concerns profit by its service.
MORE AND BETTER ADVERTISING CREATES A DESIRE ON THE PART OF ITS READERS TO POSSESS. PERSISTENT ADVERTISING MEANS MORE SALES AND MORE SALES MEAN MORE PROFITS.
THE WORLD KNOWS THAT PERSISTENT ADVERTISERS ALWAYS KEEP STEP WITH PROGRESS.

MAD DOG ATTACKS TWO.

Miss Pauline Graff and her brother, Walter, are receiving treatment here under Dr. B. H. Carlton for injuries received when they were attacked by a mad dog the early part of the week. Miss Graff was bitten in the ankle, although at the time she did not know the animal was suffering with rabies. Calling to her brother for assistance, he, too, was attacked and bitten in the hand. Before he arrived and the dog could be killed, it had escaped to a neighboring farm where it bit several animals before being killed by a large bull dog.
The dog was not found until several days later, and as the body was in a state of decomposition the head was not sent to the Pasteur Institute at Austin. Dr. Carlton, however, stated that there was no doubt but that the dog had rabies.
Mr. Graff and his sister, however, immediately came to town from their home near the Hondo, for treatment.
The serum was ordered from Austin and is being administered here by Dr.
Carlton who reports the two patients getting along fine, with no serious after effects either from their injuries or the serum.
Mr. Graff and Miss Pauline are the son and daughter of Mrs. Emma Graff of near Hondo.

COUNTY COUNCIL AT DUNLAY.

Local P. T. A. Host to Members of County Parent-Teacher Associations.

One of the most enthusiastic and best attended meetings since the organization of the Medina County Council of Parent-Teacher Associations, and one which will probably rebound to the most benefit of the chilren of the county, was held at the Herman Sons Hall at Dunlay on last Saturday afternoon, under the able management of a local committee composed of Mesdames Adolph Haby, Geo. Noonan, John Zuberbueler, John Schweers, and John Bohlen, assisted by Mrs. Maud Hight, local teacher, and almost every woman of the community.
County Superintendent W. N.
Saathoff presided over the meeting in his usual happy manner and a spirit of cooperation and good feeling prevailed throughout the afternoon's program, which was indeed "the feast of reason and the flow of soul". Addresses by able speakers and musical numbers by talented artists held the undivided attention of the some three hundred representatives from the various school districts of the county for more than two hours.
The program was opened by the audience singing "America", followed by reading of the P. T. A. Creed.
Dr. Edward Armstrong then presented the Hondo Glee Club girls in several entertaining choruses.
Miss Celia Moore, of the State Department of Health, gave the principal address of the afternoon. Her subject was "Parental and Home Education." Miss Moore, among other worthwhile things, told the audience how to procure and use the service of the State Health Department, and thereby carry on a cooperative, constructive health plan among the children of the county. The council decided to ask for a State Health nurse's visit in the county and Miss Moore will probably be here in that capacity during the month of April.
Miss Moore closed her talk by giving a demonstration of hand-washing, in which the entire audience participated.
Miss Florence Zuberbueler of Dun-lay gave a pleasing piano selection, followed by several well rendered violin and piano numbers by young ladies of Devine, directed by Mrs.
Busby, teacher of music.
Prof. Roensch of Yancey was on the program for an address on "Vocational Guidance of the Child", but on account of illness could not be present. Superintendent Saathoff called on Rev. Haaskarl, pastor of the Lutheran church at Quihi, for one of his interesting, impromptu talks, which he gave in his inimitable manner. Paying a beautiful tribute to the mother of Washington, whose 200th birthday anniversary we are commemorating, and to the mothers of the Bible, Rev. Haaskarl stressed the importance of firmness on the part of mothers of today to the end that the child may not stray from the straight and narrow path that leads to happiness.
Prof. Herman Couser, of the Natalia school, accompanied by Mrs.
Busby of Devine, delighted the audience with several violin numbers, which concluded the musical part of the program.
Mrs. Maud Hight, of the Dunlay school, expressed her pleasure at the large attendance and the appreciation of the community for the pleasing and constructive program.
Invitations for the April meeting were extended the Council by Miss Page for Maverick district; Prof.
Couser for Natalia district; and Mrs.
Joe Dillon for Hondo district. Hondo out-voted her competitors and the April meeting will be held at Hondo.
At the close of the afternoon the Dunlay P. T. A. served a delectable plate lunch of potato salad, sandwiches, cake and hot coffee to the entire audience.
As a special observance of the anniversary of George Washington, a large American flag was displayed on the stage and a large framed picture of "The Father of his Country" was placed above the piano and flanked by bowls of fern and cut flowers. A small red hatchet was pinned on each person who entered the hall.
The rains Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday nights approximately totaled one inch precipitation. The rain of last month put a good season in the ground, which will be made all the better by the rains of this week.

MARCH IS SUGGESTED AS GO TO CHURCH MONTH.

By Methodist Pastor.

March is being designated "Go to Church Month", a time in which every individual is urged to attend religious services somewhere, regardless of faith or creed. We will be happy to know that more people are attending worship services than ever before in Hondo and vicinity.
The question, "why not go to Church?", should be faced by every person. If we are to be happy and face life with a victorious outlook, we would do well to give serious heed to our spiritual nature. To go to Church surely helps to lift our spiritual outlook and to give us a grip on ourselves and on life that cannot be derived from any other source.
Then again, we are approaching that period in which the supreme passion of our Lord was revealed, the time when the supreme price was paid for the redemption of the human race. Surely in such a period as this no individual, especially one who has come to confess living trust and faith in Him, would absent him-selves from the Church where His love and power are proclaimed at this time?
When the world is torn and bleeding because of Sin, and millions are in want, and we are blinded by petty things of this world, we do need so much to turn our hearts to the only One. He who tasted of death for all men, is calling unto us. Will we not heed, will we not hear His voice as He calls to us today?
The greatest need of "Our America" today is to drop everything and turn out en masse to the house of God and there strive to get a new grip on ourselves and on life which will make us able to face the responsibilities of life with a determination that will conquer. The Psalmist's words should be our words:
"I was glad when they said unto me, let us go unto the house of the Lord."
Every Methodist is especially urged to be present at every service this month. We are praying that there may come to every Christian a fresh appointing from on high during this period; and those of you who do not know the blessed Lord as your Savior, that you may come to trust Him, and know of His peace that surpass-eth understanding.
Do not miss the first Sunday. The pastor expects to be in his place Sunday morning after almost three weeks of confinement in the home.
With the coming of spring and the coming of Easter there should be a big improvement in Sunday school attendance as well as church attendance. Let everyone be fair with the Lord and with himself and begin in earnest about their Christian duty.
Will you not make this month, March, a banner month in church attendance for yourself and for your church? Every individual is urged to attend the church of his choice.
When? Now.
We begin a series of pre-Easter messages Sunday morning. Do not miss a single one. We hope to get the record of every member's attendance for this month. With a greeting and a prayer for every reader of the Anvil Herald, that our hearts and minds may be staid on the blessed Lord, I am, P. E. LANCASTER,
Pastor.

INCONSISTENCIES.

To Fletcher's Farming:
In the minds of a majority of the members of the last called session of the Texas Legislature, if we are to judge them by one of the bills they enacted into law, the men who invested their hard earned money in Texas farms are not competent to attend to their own business. Reference is made to the Cotton Acreage Law. The right of the farmers to increase or reduce their cotton acreage voluntarily provided they believe it to their interest and are in position to do so should not be questioned. Knowing there is the largest surplus of cotton on hand at this time we have ever had and that unless this year's production is far below that of last year's crop will continue to be below the actual cost of production, they should be allowed to plant what and as much as they please, gambling on the consequences. If they want to raise five cent cotton they should be permitted to do so. That is their business.

It is within the memory of most farmers of today when a corps of State and Federal employees were telling the farmers how to produce two bales of cotton on the same land that was producing only one bale, two bushels of grain where only one was produced, etc. It looks now as though they have overdone the job. They were not interested in the marketing end of farm products then. But lately we hear and read much about organizing marketing associations, a good thing if successfully operated. It would be interesting to know how many such associations have been organized since the Grange first started, 1867, and how many of those organizations are still doing business. I venture the assertion that less than one per cent of them are functioning at the present time. Do not misunderstand me; I am in favor of cooperative marketing associations successfully operated.

One other observation: The Federal Government is spending hundreds of millions of dollars in the reclamation of land on which will be produced more of the same commodities that are now produced in quantities that cannot be marketed at a profit to the producers, and, at the same time, advising a reduction in the acreage planted to such crops as cotton and grain. If this advice is followed, there will be a greatly increased acreage producing vegetables, where conditions are favorable, which will tend to reduce the market prices below what they are already, frequently below the cost of production even with cheap Mexican labor.

What did the enacting of the Cotton Acreage Law cost the taxpayer and what would it cost them to repeal it? The answer is, it cost the members of the legislature and many of the farmers now in it its repeal be considered a "penny" which would be the loss of men to police the state to see no farmer violated it?

natural sweet? Milk modified with honey is more nutritious than honey breaks the curd, thus aiding digestion.
The key to the problem of marketing honey is to prove that it is essential to the daily diet, and the "honey world."

Miss Malita Fisher says: "In my car there will be Valentine and ade wouldn't it be interesting to have special combinations made for these entertainments?

You might call for St. Patrick's would be a desirable honey suggestion

For Miss Fisher I think is We should talk shop early and cial health talks every evening from Via Acuna tells his listeners that practically all honey in stores is adulterated but that

Oregon Jersey Sets National Record

RINDA'S ROSAIRE'S TESSIE 725083

Rinda's Rosaire's Tessie, a pure-bred Jersey cow owned by John Kopplin, of Gaston, Oregon produced, 1042.81 pounds of butterfat, 15,592 pounds, or more than seven tons, of milk in a year. Her yield is the equivalent of 1,303 pounds of butter, 7,252 quarts of milk produced in 365 days. Estimated at 13 cents per quart this amount of milk is worth $942.76.

one person in 10,000 knows it, therefore the heating is done.

In recent issues of about half a dozen bee journals we notice an average of 3 notices that honey would make a good anti-freeze for automobile radiators. Oh friends! EAT thou honey, because it is good. Any poor grade of alcohol that you have no use for, because it is tabooed by law, makes a better anti-freeze than honey does.

Honey is one of the choicest foods.
When the writers of old wished to speak of a land that was exceedingly rich they spoke of it as flowing with milk and honey. We state emphatically without fear of successful contradiction that honey is by far the best concentrated sweet ever devised for human consumption. We have the milk and the honey, and in addition the cornbread. These three combined are simple, yet simply good.
Great is West Texas, even if those cranks concentrate all the gold in the vaults of Wall Street, New York.

Mr. B. A. Hadsell of Buckeye, Arizona, says that he sometimes gets a thousand cases of extracted honey, and that he has handled bees for 72 years. Mr. Hadsell evidently is not a beginner in the art of handling bees, and judging from the mention of his crops, he must have at least a dozen hives of bees, if not more.

A writer on bees who calls himself by the pen name of Jay, says: "Honey has been considered so sweet and so precious that it has in the past and still is used as a term of endearment.
Can you imagine a young man in love with a sweet girl addressing her thus: 'Hello, corn sugar.' or 'How I love you! You are as sweet as glucose.' If a fellow should ever address his beloved in such terms, there would be no honeymoon.
In olden times when the couple were married the bride prepared the most delicious foods known to the culinary art. Honey was included and was considered the best of all.

This feast of good things lasted for a month, or moon, and was known as the "honeymoon." But nowadays there are too many divorces. That is because they have no real honeymoon but a corn sugar moon. When the young people get married they have enough to make the first payment on a radio and to buy a can opener. Maybe the bride has a little account of her own. Enough to buy cigarettes and a ticket to Reno. So here is '32—may the young folk who read this plan on a real honest to goodness honeymoon, honey and all, make a lasting job of it, and keep the vow, "Till death do us part." milk, 1-3 cup melted shortening, 3 tablespoons honey, 2 1-4 cups flour, 4 teaspoons tartrate baking powder or 2 teaspoons phosphate baking powder, 1 teaspoon salt.

Blend melted shortening with honey, add beaten eggs. Sift dry ingredients and add to first mixture alternately with milk.
Be sure your electric waffle iron has been properly pre-heated before pouring over the batter.

ABOUT SHIFTING.

Much has been heard lately about the folly of shifting taxes. Now comes Editor Davis of Fletcher's Farming, published out at Hondo, and discusses the shifting the raising of farm products as follows:

With practically every product of the farm selling below the cost of production little can be gained by shifting from one crop to another.
Under such conditions it is well to remember that the first thing to be considered is the living. The self-sustaining farm will be the most prosperous farm in 1932 no matter what prices prevail for cash crops.

We challenge anti-tax shifters, "Hefty Herald" and Professor John Strauss, to controvert the foregoing logic. If they could correct the tax shifting as easily as the farmer can take advantage of the above advice, all would be happy and serene to the end of 1932, the hoped for democratic year. —Fred B. Robinson in

THE SONG OF TEXAS.

(Apologies to Longfellow)
In the land across the ocean By the shining sunny waters, Stands the land of milk and honey, Land of flowers, fruits and forests;
There a land was lying wasted, Wasted by the open woodland, Traversed only by the Indians, Indians, natives of the country.
There the white men came and settled, Settled in the strange new country, Driving West the struggling natives Making cities out of woodlands.

Then the settlers came to Texas, Up and down the country went they,
In and out among the mountains, Made a pathway for the people, Made a passage safe and certain.
Down to Mexico they wandered Restless, struggling, toiling, striving, Till the land was full of people, Till the Mexicans stopped their progress.

Then the dark and dreary days came,
Passed before them vague and cloud-like;

They beheld their families scattered, Scattered by the ruthless warfare.
Many of the heroes perished Perished at the hands of Mexicans, In the missions on the border.
Then at last the crisis ended Ended all the pain and terror;
All the soldiers traveled homeward To the loved ones in their houses, To report the news much longed for That the Texans won the struggle; There was laughter, joy, and praising,
In the home of the victorious,
And the beasts and birds and flowers, Joined in chorus with their gladness.

Then the Texans joined the Union, Of the grand old U. S. A.
And the state became united Like the others gone before.

THE CAT.

The cat was young and had no sense, It tried to climb upon a fence, The fence broke down, and down it came
And from that day it was insane.

It tried to climb upon a cane, The cane it swayed—and fell o'er

SOMETHING TO THINK ABOUT.

When you write a poem, think how it will sound to the other fellow.
Con each word. Remember it is the reader who has to be pleased and not we ourselves. Little senseless rhymes or vague utterances of the mind is not poetry. Poetry is word music.
Poetry must have harmony, beauty, color, and sense. Mistaken inspiration is the impulse to do a certain thing—often without reason. A poet is or should be just as artistic as a painter or a musician. What would we think of a musician or a painter who never followed rule? We would say that something was lacking. Rightly so.
Therefore it stands to reason that a poet must follow rule as well as inspiration.—A. S. Draper.

TO A LOUSE.

(Apologies to Burns)

As lonesome I sat in English class; Hearing the hum of burning gas,
And hunting a way to amuse myself, By dreaming of fairies and goblins and elves;

I saw a thing of smallest dimensions Crawling along on a curl's extensions.

With delicate ease and dainty poise He slipped along and made no noise, His gray feet he placed with graceful ease
As he sauntered along, bending his knees.

With each careful step his life was at stake,
For the hair was oiled slick for fashion's sake, He clung to the hair as he hurried along—Just one careless step and all would go wrong; Down he would plunge to the awful unknown
With a fall that would bruise or break every bone.

Nearer and nearer he approached his goal,
Which was some hair in a tight curly roll.
Ah, at last, with two careful steps he arrived
Down to his home in the hair he dived.
O, little louse, thou wee timid creature, How terribly uncertain is thy dismal future.
Each moment thou live'st and breath'- st the air

Thou take'st thy portion and also thy share;
But some day, wee louse, thy life will decay, Leaving only thy children to take up thy way.

FLU AND COLDS CAN BE PREVENTED NOW

RULES YOU SHOULD OBSERVE: Sleep 8 hours, with window open. Avoid crowds and persons with colds. Keep the bowels open.

The above rules are suggested by a prominent health authority, as guides to good health, and particularly should they be observed now, when influenza and bad colds are affecting so many people. COLDs should be treated promptly, as they frequently lead to serious illness, and the wonderful and very penetrating salve—should be used at the first sign of a cold. Place a small quantity of it in the nostrils, and it will be carried at once to the seat of the trouble and may be effective in stopping had colds. For Head Colds, Sore Throat & Hoarseness rub ABSORBO over the throat and chest and cover with a warm flannel cloth. It is important that the bowels be kept open and a cup of GRANDMA'S TEA will help the intestinal congestion and eliminate the poison in the intestinal tract. If the cough is annoying, GRANDMA'S COUGH SYRUP, taken as directed, will give prompt relief.

ABSORBO

At the eleven o'clock hour, the Pastor will speak on The River of Life. Much is said in the Bible about rivers, both on earth and Heaven. Two rivers of Life are spoken of. Come, and hear this discussion. It will be both informing and inspirational. At the evening hour, the Girls Auxiliary—Junior Girls—under Miss Margaret Howard, as Counselor, will sing for the congregation several of their stirring numbers. The Pastor will preach a sermon for the young people. The regular weekly programs for the young folks are presented as follows:

Junior B. Y. P. U. at 7:00 P. M. Miss Emma Buss, Leader.

Girls Auxiliary, Tuesday 4:15 P. M., Miss Howard, Counselor.

Sunbeam Band, Thursday, 3:00 P. M., Mrs. E. E. Kollman, Leader.

Royal Ambassadors Boys, Henry Windrow, Instructor.

All children are urged to join one of these classes. It will mean well for the future of all such.

Every Wednesday night at 7:30 o'clock, we have a brief devotional study of the Holy Bible, commonly called Prayer Meeting. You would better come. It will bring you close in your thinking to God, and will do you good. Following this brief devotional, the Choir will practice singing. Besides special music for the hours of worship, the Choir is preparing a Cantata for use of Easter Sunday. Lovers of high grade, worshipful music will enjoy this, and are invited to participate in the rehearsals.

"Now are ye clean through Word which I have spoken unto ye Jh. 15, 3.

"If any man be in Christ, he new creature." II Cor. 5, 17.
"The Blood of Jesus Christ, Son, cleanseth us from all sins." 1, 7.

"What shall I do with Jesus? This was Pilate's big problem. Yet it should have been easy to see. He was convinced that Jesus was innocent. He was guiltless: 'I find fault in Him.' He should have set Him free. Instead, to protect himself, he betrayed his conscience, proved a moral coward.

We are all face to face with the Crucified Son of God. We cannot escape the inevitable question: What shall I do with Jesus? There is only one thing we all want to do with Him: enthrone Him as our hearts as the only Lord and King. Let the Father draw you to His Son. This means happiness and peace, you here below; and it means everything to you for eternity.

The fifth mid-week Lenten service will be held on Wednesday, March 6, beginning at 8:00 o'clock. The subject of next week's sermon will be Herod, and the part he played in the trial of Christ. Everyone is welcome to attend these services.

There will be English service on Sunday morning beginning at a usual hour, 10:30. The Sunday school and Bible class begin at 9:30.

The Sunday school teachers' training class meets at the parsonage Friday night at 7:30.

Sunday morning at 9:30 o'clock Sunday school and Bible class meet in Bethlehem Lutheran church. This is important and serious work. A cordial invitation to be present and join in this service is extended to all.

Divine service will be held in Bethlehem Lutheran church Sunday as follows: At 10:30 o'clock A. M. in the German language and at 7:30 o'clock P. M. in the English tongue. All are always cordially welcome at all services in this church.

Lenten services are being held in Bethlehem Lutheran church every Wednesday night at 7:30 o'clock P. M. To those edifying and interesting services all are cordially invited.

Last Sunday night a splendid and appreciative audience—far larger than the capacity of the church—was present at Bethlehem Lutheran church to hear and to enjoy the splendid bi-centennial birthday celebration program of George Washington's birth rendered under the auspices of the Quihi Luther League. All musical, literary and oratorical numbers were rendered par excellent. To Mr. Edwin Grell much credit is due for the efficiency of the church choir, which rendered several appropriate patriotic selections with spirit and musical precision, while Mrs. Henry Schuehle presided at the piano in her usual courteous and efficient manner. The first speaker of the occasion was County Superintendent of schools, W. N. Seathoff, who gave a very interesting, brief and graphic outline sketch of George Washington as history and the world know him.

The next speaker was Rev. W. C. Leibfarth of St. Paul's Lutheran church of Hondo, who in his timely address illustrated very clearly the physical and moral courage, for which Washington was distinguished as a military and political leader of his day and time. Last, but by no means least, Rev. K. Konzack of Castrovilla mounted the rostrum and in well chosen words honored the memory of George Washington very fittingly and thus brought the program to an end. The next program was announced by the vice president of the League, Miss Emma Nietenhoefer. The same will be given March 27th.

MISCELLANEOUS SHOWER.

A miscellaneous shower was given Saturday afternoon, February 20, at the home of Mrs. L. A. Gerdes in honor of Miss Frieda Koehler a bride of the week.

The bride was seated in a lovely chair decorated in the national color of red, white and blue. After meeting all her friends and neighbors, the following toast was read by Miss Agnes Wiemers:

TO DEAR FRIEDA.

F stands for the friends who have assembled today, R for the roses, that may ever come your way.

I is for Idle, which you'll never be, be sure, E is for Endurance, may your love endure,

D is for daisies, for daisies won't tell, you know, A is for the altar, to which you'll soon go

K stands for kindness, which can be read in your face, O for the "orders" you'll get from "His Grace".

E is for envy, which you must not carry in your heart H is for happiness, for we all wish you that,

L is for the "loved one", you'll soon possess, E another E, is for your engagement,

R is for the ring you'll soon wear and will bless.

Then two little girls, Hattie Gerdes and Lillian Lindburg, dressed in red and blue came in with a large decorated basket filled again and again with beautiful and useful gifts, which were passed around to everyone and enjoyed to view by all. After an hour or two of social pastime, pop corn guessing contest was held. Miss Muennink won the prize, a bowl, for first, and Lillian Lindburg a cake cutter for second. The prizes were presented to the bride.

Refreshments were served, consisting of pimento sandwiches, angel and devil food cake, and cocoa.

There were not so many present on account of "the real rainy shower."

Fifty and Fit

A MAN is as old—or as young—as his organs.

At fifty, you can be in your prime.

Why go along with "fairly good health" when you might be enjoying vigor you haven't felt for years?

There's a simple little thing anyone can do to keep the vital organs stimulated, and feel fit all the time. People don't realize how sluggish they've grown until they've tried it. The stimulant that will stir your system to new life is Dr. Caldwell's syrup pepsin. It will make a most amazing difference in many ways.

* This famous doctor's prescription is a delicious syrup made with fresh herbs, active senna, and pure pepsin. It starts its good work with the first spoonful. That's all you need to drive away the dullness and rid the system of that slow poison that saps your strength. It's better than a tonic for tired bowels, and unlike habit-forming laxatives you can take it freely or give it to any child. And it isn't expensive.

Get some syrup pepsin today, and take a little tonight. Don't wait until you're sick to give your system this wonderful help. You can avoid those spells of biliousness or constipation. A spoonful every now and then is better than constant worry about the condition of your bowels, or fear of auto-intoxication as you grow older. Dr. Caldwell's syrup pepsin protects the system. All druggists keep this preparation.

MAKING THE FARM FEED THE FAMILY OF FIVE.

By Lola Blair, Extension Nutritionist.

About $610 is necessary to feed a family of five for one year in Texas if all food is purchased. About $547 of this amount can be produced on the farm with careful planning, knowledge of production and preservation necessary, and the kinds, amounts and varieties of foods needed to feed a family adequately.

Suggestions as to the amounts and varieties of foods necessary to adequately feed a family of five for one year may be helpful to those who are planning to live at home in 1932. The amounts given below are the minimum. The prices given were the average for 1931 secured from grocery stores in central and north central Texas.

Milk—365 gallons is necessary. Two dairy cows should yield a continuous supply of two gallons per day. One gallon can be reserved daily for food and drink and three or four gallons per week reserved for butter (See amount butter required under "fats"). At 30 cents per gallon this will save $109.50 on the food budget.

Vegetables—a total of 2184 pounds will be needed. One-fourth acre garden if well planned, well cared for and replaced should yield enough. This amount should be divided into leafy or green 728 pounds, starchy 728 pounds and others 728 pounds.

The starchy vegetables include both sweet and Irish potatoes, very young corn, (fresh or canned) and parsnips. Of the 728 pounds required, 628 may be used fresh and 100 pounds canned. At $.023 per pound the fresh vegetables would amount to $14.44 and the canned corn at 10 cents per can to $10. The total is $24.44.

The leafy or green vegetables include the edible leaves of all plants such as mustard, turnip, beet, onion and radish tops, Swiss Chard, spinach, broccoli, wild greens, asparagus, cabbage, kraut, endive, Chinese cabbage, string beans, snap peas English peas, Brussel sprouts, kale, kohlrabi, lettuce, cress and green peppers. If 608 pounds are used at eight cents per pound and 120 pounds are canned at 10 cents per can, the total amount will be $60.64.

The "other" vegetables will include turnips, beets, squash, onions, c-shaw, carrots, pumpkins, rutabaga, radishes, okra, egg plant, fresh shell-peas, or beans, cucumbers and radishes. If 648 pounds are used at six cents per pound and 80 pounds are canned at 10 cents per can, the total is $46.88.

The complete total for all vegetables is $131.96.

Fruits—are to be served twice each day bringing the total number of pounds to 1456. One-half acre farm fruit plot is sufficient. This should contain 20 peach, 10 plum, and 5 pear trees, 12 grape vines, 25 blackberry and 25 dewberry plants. This fruit includes peaches, pears, plums, grapes, berries, apples, cherries, apricots, citrus fruit, tomatoes, rhubarb, watermelon, cantaloupe and figs and all fruit juices. If 906 pounds are used fresh at five cents per pound and 275 pounds canned at 20 cents per can, the total will be $100.30.

Protein—for a family of five amounts to 728 pounds and includes meat, cheese, nuts, eggs, dried peas and beans. A flock of 60 pullets should supply the eggs and chickens used for meat. To maintain such a flock 300 chicks should be hatched each spring. In addition to poultry and eggs the meat supply should include enough pork, beef, mutton, fish and wild game to furnish one serving or more each day. Where sea foods of shell variety are not to be secured fresh, one No. 2 can of canned salmon or oysters should be provided each week. The suggested amounts above include 200 pounds beef, pork, mutton or wild game at 25 cents per pound; 34 cans of same at 30 cents per can, 52 pounds home made American or cottage cheese at 20 cents per pound, 26 pounds peanuts and pecans at 14 cents per pound and 156 dozen eggs at 25 cents. This will bring a saving of $135.32.

Cereals—this item includes 936 pounds or more. The wheat, corn and rice fields will furnish the bulk of the breadstuffs. A good portion is to include 312 pounds flour, 312 pounds corn meal, 104 pounds rice, 52 pounds grits and 52 pounds ground wheat for oat meal. The value of cereals which can be grown will save about $13.56.

Sweets—this item includes molasses, sugar, honey and preserved fruits. The divisions might be 26 pounds preserves, jams and jellies and 52 pints molasses. (The sugar is included in the grocery list). The saving will be 26 pounds preserves at 30 cents per pound, 52 pints molasses at 10 cents per pint, which makes a total of $13.

Fats—total amount 208 pounds, including salt pork, lard and butter. All of this is included in the production necessary for meat, poultry and dairy products already given. Fifty-two pounds salt pork at 12 cents per pound, 52 pounds lard at 12 cents per pound and 104 pounds butter at 30 cents per pound would make a gain of $43.68 on the budget.

Supposing that the greater portion of Texas must purchase some fish, some of the cereals and the sugar, etc., the grocery bill will amount to about $60. This may be offset by growing enough of some product to pay for such supplies. The itemized grocery bill will be about 156 pounds sugar at five cents per pound, coffee 52 pounds at 36 cents per pound, 12 pounds tea at 90 cents per pound, four to six boxes of salt at 10 cents, four to six cans baking powder at 20 cents per can, spices and extracts

COTTON LOSS OFTEN 50 PER CENT WHEN BALES ARE LEFT TO WEATHER.

Because of the unusually large quantities of cotton stored on farms this season, it is particularly important for cotton growers to provide the storage facilities that will prevent their cotton from deterioration by exposure to weather, says the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

Losses from weather damage have been relatively small in recent years, reports the Bureau of Agricultural Economics, because comparatively small quantities of cotton have been held on farms after ginning. Losses in earlier seasons from heavy farm storage of cotton, however, have been variously estimated at from $25,000,000 to $70,000,000 a year.

Experiments by the Division of Cotton Marketing showed that bales of cotton placed flat on the ground with no covering and without further attention may sustain weather damage to the extent of 273 pounds per 500 pound bale. The average loss for bales placed on edge on the ground without further attention in these tests, was 109 pounds. Bales on edge and turned once a week lost 64.5 pounds.

Bales placed on end and on the ground and not turned lost 117 pounds. Bales placed on timbers off the ground and turned once a week lost 19.5 pounds, and bales placed on timbers and covered with tarpaulin, without further attention, lost 10 pounds. Bales stored in properly constructed warehouses lost only 4 pounds. Many of the individual bales showed gains in weight as the result of absorption of moisture during the open-air storage. The tests were made at five representative points in the Cotton Belt.

"In addition to being protected from weather damage, cotton stored in Federal or State licensed and bonded warehouses provides an acceptable form of collateral for loans, and permits low insurance rates," the department says. "However, there are many farmers who wish to hold cotton this season for whom such warehouse facilities are not available under present conditions. In view of this fact, they should employ every safeguard against loss. Growers who are planning to hold baled cotton in their farms should, if possible, place it in barns or other farm buildings where it will be off the ground and under good shelter."

Where such shelter is not available, the department recommends that the bales be placed on timbers and covered with tarpaulins or other material that will protect them from the weather. The department also cautions growers that because of fire hazard storage barns or sheds, or open-air storages, should be at a distance from other farm buildings.

THE LATE "RAH RAH" BOYS.

What has become of the "rah-rah" boys who used to lend the touch of the early American Indian to the campuses of the colleges and universities of this country several years ago? What has happened to the gaudy clothes, the more gaudy wrecked "flivver," and the snappy manners of the collegian of a few years ago?

"Vanished," says the collegian of today. Pride and a deep-rooted realization that more virility should be cultivated have forced the softness and light headedness into the background to a great extent. Students have begun to realize that the young manhood of the nation was being turned into a group of "sob-sisters," who could never take the place of their fathers in time to come.

The "collegian" of a few years ago was the product of post war materialism and financial prosperity. In the same manner, the more conservative and more sensible college man of today may be called the product of the depression. The great economic disaster that is taking the world by storm has brought the thinking young man to ponder on the future. He forces that upon his shoulders will rest a great deal of responsibility when he is ushered into the world.

This saner outlook on life, coupled with more conservative policies in the business world, has done away with much of the superficiality of college men. And well that it has, for the extreme foppishness had been reached.

$1 Dinner For 4

THIS is worth clipping. A dinner prepared by an expert dietitian which costs twenty-five cents per person—and what a dinner!

Hamburg Steak with Brown Gravy 35c Mashed Potatoes 7c
Carrots and Corn O'Brien 21c
Sliced Bermuda Onions 10c Bread and Butter 8c Butterscotch Bread Pudding 16c Demi-tasse 3c
Carrots and Corn O'Brien: Melt two tablespoons butter in a skillet, add one-half green pepper shredded, one-half of a No. 1 can of whole kernel corn, and sauté for five minutes. Add the contents of an 8-ounce can of diced carrots, one tablespoon chopped pimiento and season to taste with salt and pepper. Continue cooking until a golden brown.

Butterscotch Bread Pudding: Melt one tablespoon butter and one-half cup brown sugar to a syrup. Add two cups of scalded diluted evaporated milk and stir until dissolved. Pour over one and one-half cups of bread cubes which are not too stale, and let stand until cool. Add a few grains of salt and one slightly-beaten egg. Pour into a pudding dish and bake in an oven, 350 degrees, for thirty-five to forty minutes or until a knife thrust in comes out clean. Serve with this Butterscotch Sauce: Boil one-half cup brown sugar, two tablespoons corn syrup to 236 degrees, or the soft ball stage. Add one tablespoon butter, three tablespoons cream or evaporated milk and serve warm over the pudding.

Doubled!

"DOUBLES" may or may not be good news. If it's on the tennis court—no. If it's twins—yes and no. If it's the output of whole grain corn doubled—yes.

Twice as much whole grain corn was packed this year as last, and corn statistics reveal the good news also that the pack of standard cases of corn of all kinds was 19,414,667 for 1931 while the 1930 pack of standard cases was 15,692,172.

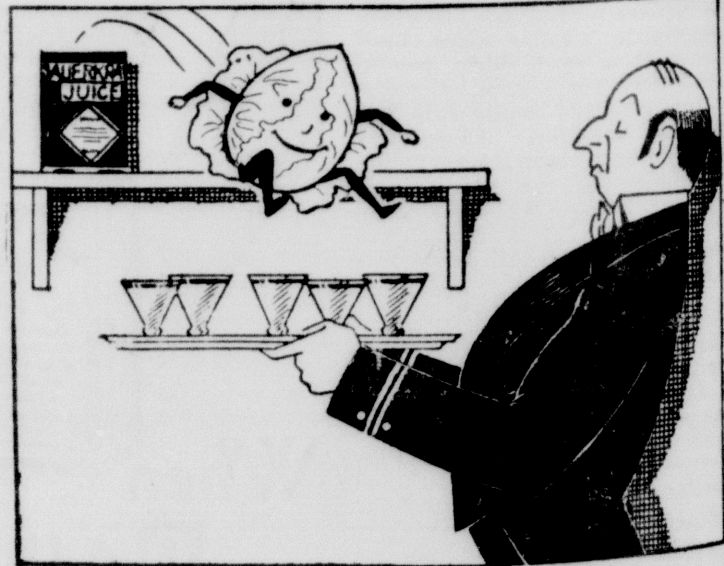

How Will You Serve It?

The increasing popularity of whole grain corn has been a factor in the increased production of corn. An increasing number of recipes for this succulent and nutritious corn is constantly being tested; and now the housewife may choose at will between cream-style dishes and those which use whole grain corn. One of each type is given here.

Mexican Corn: Sauté one medium chopped onion in two tablespoons butter until golden brown, add one tablespoon flour and stir smooth. Add two cups canned tomatoes, two cups cream-style corn, two canned pimientos, one teaspoon salt, one teaspoon sage, one-eighth teaspoon pepper and pour into a buttered baking dish. Cover thickly with buttered crumbs and brown in a hot oven. This serves eight persons.

Corn and Pepper Salad: Drain one No. 2 can of whole grain corn thoroughly, add one-third cup of diced green pepper and one-fourth cup of diced pimientos; and season to taste with salt and pepper. Add sufficient French dressing to moisten, and let marinate thoroughly in the refrigerator. Serve on crisp lettuce leaves. This serves six persons.

Kraut Cocktails

THE fashionable dinner table, which once upon a time would have had no place to harbor a dish of sauerkraut, starts off, almost as a matter of course now, with a kraut cocktail—iced, garnished and all fussed up—but to you and me it's just good old sauerkraut juice, gone a bit high hat, perhaps.

But this excellent food hasn't gone high in price, along with its social fling—and that's a very important factor. Even though scientists have analyzed its beneficial lactic acid and its content of vitamins A, B, C and D, and physicians recommend it, you can still buy the same big can for around seventeen cents, and at the special sales, so numerous now, you can buy this health food at even lower prices.

Old and New

If you are an old-time kraut devotee, you'll probably prefer the juice as it comes from the can, well chilled of course. If you are a kraut-nouveau, you'll like Tomato and Sauerkraut Cocktail: Mix together one part juice and one part tomato juice from canned sauerkraut and one part juice from canned tomatoes. Add salt and paprika to taste, and cracked ice. Shake until cold and foamy. Serve at once.

Or, Continental Kraut Cocktail: Make a sauce by mixing two tablespoons tomato catsup, one-half tablespoon Worcestershire sauce, one-half tablespoon kraut juice and one-half tablespoon sugar. Place a small ball of sauerkraut in each of six sherbet glasses. Add a spray of parsley for garnish, pour over the sauce and serve with celery and salted soda crackers.
